

- ▶ Geared for K-12 school librarians
- ▶ Leadership and advocacy support
- ▶ Instruction and inquiry focus
- ▶ Standard-based lesson plan examples
- ▶ Ideas for “nudging” toward inquiry learning

- ▶ Strategies for learning and teaching multiple literacies
- ▶ Up-to-date coverage of current issues
- ▶ “Use This Page” resource
- ▶ Author and Events Almanacs

Nudging Toward Inquiry

SLM continues the focus on “Nudging Toward Inquiry” in the 2011-12 volume. Access the topic list through the SLM blog (<http://bit.ly/nudging>) and contribute to the discussion as we continue to examine the elements of inquiry. In this volume, we will examine new themes and reexamine others to seek additional insight to help school librarians promote and teach the inquiry process.

September/October

Posting Due by June 30

Nudging toward Inquiry Theme:

Common Core Standards and the Librarian

November

Posting Due by July 8

Nudging toward Inquiry Theme:

Matching Assessment and Learning Objectives

December

Posting Due by September 2

Nudging toward Inquiry Theme:

Prior Knowledge: The Civil War

January

Posting Due by September 30

Nudging toward Inquiry Theme:

Knowledge Construction: Diseases

February

Posting due by October 28

Nudging toward Inquiry Theme:

Moving from a Focus on Product to a Focus on Process

March

Posting due by December 2

Nudging toward Inquiry Theme:

Recognizing Good Information: Beyond Wikipedia

April

Posting due by January 6

Nudging toward Inquiry Theme:

Formative Assessment

May/June

Posting due by February 10

Nudging toward Inquiry Theme:

Summative Assessment